Term

3 Years

Position Description

The Education and Training Representative is an appointed position to the ATSA Executive Board of Directors. This position is dedicated to envisioning and overseeing the creation of education and training materials for ATSA members, other interested stakeholders, and the general public. This includes but is not limited to the creation of informational packets, professional development resources, educational skill-training materials, mentoring opportunities, and continuing education opportunities.

The Education and Training Representative is pivotal to the vitality, stability, and growth of ATSA, and is key to ATSA's mission and strategic plan. This position is responsible for chairing the ATSA Education and Training Committee and will work particularly closely with the Treasurer, Executive Director, and ATSA Office. The Education and Training Representative will assess training and educational needs with an overall goal of increasing ATSA's visibility, expanding ATSA's reach to a broad range of stakeholders, and providing concrete deliverables to ATSA members.

The duties of the Education and Training Representative include the following:

- Create informational packets.
- Develop educational opportunities.
- Assist in quality control of non-conference training.
- Review, enhance, and monitor the mentoring opportunities.
- Develop continuing education opportunities.
- Work collaboratively with other ATSA committees.

Qualifications

A candidate for the Education and Training Representative on the ATSA Executive Board of Directors is a member in good-standing, is familiar with ATSA's strategic plan, and is dynamic and passionate about the organization. Assets include an interest in or experience with developing educational and training materials, coordinating training events (e.g., in-person classes and webinars), managing projects with multidisciplinary teams, expertise in contemporary research-informed practices pertaining to the treatment and management of sexual abusers, awareness of training needs in the field, and experience working with nonprofit boards and volunteer committees.

Ideal candidates will have the following:

- Strong organizational and leadership skills.
- Excellent written and verbal communication skills.
- A passion for and commitment to building upon and guiding activities focusing on ATSA Education and Training opportunities.
- Experience coordinating and/or providing training and professional development activities and the development of written resources.
- Interest or experience with marketing and creativity.
- A spirit of collaboration and willingness to work within the committee and board structure and with the ATSA Executive Director and ATSA Office to address and promote ATSA's mission and vision.

The Association for the Treatment of Sexual Abusers is an international, multi-disciplinary, not-for-profit organization dedicated to preventing sexual abuse through research, education, and shared learning. ATSA promotes evidence-based practice, public policy, and community strategies that lead to the effective assessment, treatment, and management of individuals who have sexually abused or are at risk to abuse.
